There is a red 2018 Tinto produced with Tempranillo that, in this first vintage, shows quite ripe and heady. It's produced with Tempranillo from Fuentenebro, a high-altitude place that had mines and is rich in minerals. It's a rich and powerful red that was fermented with indigenous yeasts and matured in 225- and 500-liter French oak barrels for 18 months. It's very ripe and intense with marked tannins and pungent flavors combining black fruit and plenty of spice and toasted notes. It's a full-bodied, powerful, ripe and generously oaked Tempranillo from Ribera. 16,000 bottles produced. It was bottled in June 2020.
